Chairman's Message/Message du président du conseil

AS YOUR NEW association chairman, I welcome you to our ever changing and always challenging marketplace. Since deregulation in 1986, our industry has been working at redefining its role in the relocation process. Today, we continue this journey but do this saddled with continued global economic uncertainties. Van lines and movers have diversified over the years entering new marketplaces while others have contracted and specialized in their core businesses. There is no one simple answer to the restructuring that our industry finds itself experiencing. Change and change alone is our only constant. For that reason, CAM is more essential to its members than at any other time in its history.

Your association, through its board of directors and its committees, has been working diligently at addressing many of our industry's needs. New this year, we have implemented a set of working committees. These committees are responsible for member education, international moving, membership issues, government and consumer affairs and the organization and enhancement of our annual conference. We are addressing labour concerns and consumer protection issues that have been raised by provincial authorities. We have taken a proactive position on addressing the problem of rogue movers and are very active in helping the consumer to evaluate quality services. We are in the process of producing another training video which will be relevant to our industry and will complement our present collection of training material. These videos are available to all members at a nominal fee and should be considered essential for training new and old movers alike.

In closing, I would like to thank our past chairman, Rick Taylor, for his work and leadership over the past years and assure everyone that we will continue to address the concerns and interests of this industry in a responsible and proactive manner.

Tom Filgiano
Chairman, Canadian Association of Movers

EN TANT QUE Président du conseil de votre association je vous souhaite la bienvenue sur un marché en constante mutation. Depuis la déréglementation en 1986, notre industrie œuvre à redéfinir son rôle dans le processus de réinstallation. En dépit des incertitudes de l'économie mondiale, nous poursuivons notre trajectoire. Certaines compagnies de fourgons et de déménagement se sont diversifiées sur de nouveaux marchés au cours des années, tandis que d'autres se sont contractées et spécialisées dans leur principale sphère d'activités. Il n'y a pas de simple solution pour restructurer notre industrie. Le changement et rien que le changement est notre constante. Pour cette raison, L'ACD revêt une importance comme jamais auparavant auprès des membres.

Votre association, par l'entremise de son conseil d'administration et de ses comités, s'applique diligemment à composer avec les nombreux besoins de notre industrie. Cette année, nous avons mis sur pied plusieurs nouveaux comités. Ces derniers s'occupent de cours, de l'adhésion, de procédures pour les membres internationaux, de questions gouvernementales et relations-clients ainsi que de la mise en valeur de nos conférences. Nous nous employons à régler les problèmes de personnel et de protection des consommateurs soulevés par les autorités provinciales. Nous avons adopté une position proactive pour plaider contre les déménageurs crapuleux et nous aidons le consommateur à évaluer les services de qualité. Nous sommes à préparer du nouveau matériel de formation. Les membres peuvent se prévaloir à un coût minimal des vidéos indispensables pour former de nouveaux et même d'anciens déménageurs.

Pour terminer, je désire remercier le Président du conseil sortant, M. Rick Taylor pour son travail et son leadership ces dernières années et je désire vous assurer que nous continuerons à nous occuper des inquiétudes et des intérêts de notre industrie de façon proactive et responsable.

President's Message/Message du président

WE ARE NOW SEEING the final effects of what has been termed the Great Recession. As the economy improves, movers are seeing housing starts and home sales improving and with this improvement, an increase in local and long distance moves.

The period has yielded some surprising results for the Canadian Association of Movers.

CAM's membership is at its highest level in 14 years indicating industry support for the association. This level of support better enables the association to perform its role – that is to assist members to differentiate themselves from the remainder of the industry in the eyes of the consumer, government and all other stakeholders.

Our new committee system has increased CAM's effectiveness by increasing the input and the participation of both directors and members in the planning and operation of the association's activities. The education committee is making progress in producing the next training video on packing and unpacking. The international committee has produced a code of ethics and standard operating procedures for international movers in Canada. The conference committee is moving ahead with planning the 2010 annual conference scheduled for November 14 to 16, 2010. The government and consumer relations committee has made progress in communicating with government on consumer concerns and appropriate regulation. And lastly, the membership committee is working to show the moving industry the value of CAM membership.

In its continuing advocacy role, the national office has been working with provincial governments on moving issues, responding to requests from the media for information and refuting defamatory remarks in advertising. We have also been advertising on members' behalf for temporary and permanent employees and now have over 1,000 résumés from applicants across Canada.

It's your association. We need your input and participation.

John Levi, President

NOUS RECEVONS FINALEMENT des signaux annonçant la fin de la Grande Récession. À mesure que la situation économique s'améliore, les déménageurs sont témoins de mises en chantier et de hausses dans l'achat de propriétés d'où, un plus grand nombre de déménagements locaux et longues distances.

Cette période s'est traduite par des résultats plutôt surprenants pour l'Association canadienne des déménageurs.

L'adhésion n'a jamais été aussi élevée en 14 ans, ce qui indique que l'industrie appui l'association. Ce soutien permet à l'association de mieux remplir son rôle à aider les membres à se distinguer des non-membres aux yeux du consommateur, du gouvernement et autres intéressés.

Nos nouveaux comités rehaussent l'efficacité de l'ACD en augmentant la participation des directeurs et des membres dans la planification et la mise en place d'activités. Le Comité de l'éducation progresse dans la préparation d'une nouvelle vidéo de formation sur l'emballage et le déballage. Le Comité du déménagement international a préparé un code éthique et des procédures d'utilisation normalisées pour les déménageurs internationaux du Canada. Le Comité des conférences prépare la conférence annuelle qui aura lieu du 14 au 16 novembre 2010. Le Comité des affaires gouvernementales et relations avec les consommateurs progresse dans ses démarches auprès du gouvernement pour dissiper les inquiétudes des consommateurs et adopter une réglementation appropriée. En dernier lieu, le Comité de l'adhésion travaille à démontrer à l'industrie la valeur d'appartenir à l'ACD.

Dans son rôle de défenseur d'intérêts particuliers, le bureau national collabore avec les gouvernements provinciaux sur les enjeux de notre industrie, répond aux demandes des médias et combat la publicité nuisible. Nous avons passé des annonces au nom des membres pour des emplois temporaires et permanents et avons reçu plus de 1 000 curriculum vitae de candidats, partout au Canada.

C'est votre association. Nous avons besoins de votre participation.

John Levi, Président

The ABCs of Hiring Right

By Wayne Forster

WITH THE BUSY summer moving season not too far away, it's time to start thinking about how you're going to find workers to meet your summer staffing needs. And you don't want just anybody; you want the best people you can find, people who may even turn into dedicated, long-term employees.

So, how can you get good people – reliable employees who get the job done, treat your customers well, and cause you a minimum of grief?

For starters, a little planning goes a long way. Start thinking about your needs right now. Don't wait until the last minute to start looking. Otherwise, you're likely to hire the first person that comes along – which could be disastrous!

Secondly, know exactly what you're looking for. If you don't already have one, create a formal job description, outlining the responsibilities, tasks and performance expectations of the position. As well, develop what I call an "Ideal Candidate Profile," outlining the skills, personality characteristics and work habits of the "perfect" person for the job.

Once you know what you're looking for, begin your search. Don't wait. Start searching right away. If you typically hire students for the summer, keep in mind that they're already thinking about summer jobs.

Another key to an effective search is volume. You want to attract as many potential candidates as possible to give you more to choose from. It's the "law of averages": the more applicants you receive, the greater chance you have of finding some gems. Granted, it will take more time to do your screening, but that's why you're starting now!

How do you attract applicants? Internet job-search sites are the number-one choice for today's techno-savvy students. Newspaper ads are expensive and largely ineffective, especially when trying to attract students. Job banks and student job fairs are also possibilities. Online classified-ad sites like Kijiji are becoming an increasingly popular method of advertising jobs, and most of them are free! Social-media sites, such as LinkedIn or even Facebook, can also be used to spread the word. You can ask for referrals from existing employees, although you should be careful when using this method...your employee may be biased. And don't forget the old-fashioned "Help Wanted" sign in your window.

Screening your applications is the next step. I use a simple three-colour coding system: green, yellow and red. Green means "Good possibility. Might be worth interviewing." Yellow means "So-so. Will consider if the greens don't pan out." Red means "Forget it! Not a chance."

When screening candidates, match résumés or applications to the job description. If the job calls for good writing skills and neat penmanship, check how well-written and neat the applications are. If the job requires heavy lifting and physical work, look for evidence of experience in this type of work. If customer service is important, seek out candidates who've had part-time jobs at McDonald's or a retail store.

As well, try to get some sense of work ethic and past work performance. Is information about grades or achievements in school included? Is there a history of part-time jobs, paper routes? Any reference to accomplishments, whether related to work, school, sports or community activities?

Once you've completed your initial screening and have chosen your "greens," you're ready to start interviewing. I could write a book on the interview process, but I'll try to give you the most important highlights here.

I like to start by telephone interviewing my top eight to ten greens (depending on how many positions I'm filling). Yes, this takes more time initially than you might want to spend, but can save you interview time in the long run by screening out unsuitable candidates. In the telephone interview, 1) verify/clarify information on

L'ABC du bon recrutement

Par Wayne Forster

LA SAISON achalandée du déménagement arrive à grands pas et il est temps de songer aux moyens de trouver des travailleurs pour combler vos besoins en personnel. Vous ne désirez pas n'importe qui; vous entendez trouver les meilleurs éléments, ceux qui deviendront des employés stables et dévoués.

Comment trouver les bonnes personnes ? Comment dénicher des employés qui accompliront leur travail, traiteront les clients avec bienveillance et ne causeront pas trop d'embêtements ?

Premièrement, disons qu'un peu de planification mène loin. Commencez à penser à vos besoins dès maintenant. N'attendez pas à la dernière minute pour chercher. Sinon, il est possible que vous embauchiez la première personne qui se présente et le résultat pourrait être désastreux !

Deuxièmement, vous devez savoir qui vous entendez embaucher. Si vous n'avez pas de description de poste, préparez-en une, en énumérant les responsabilités, les tâches et les attentes du rendement escompté. Concevez également ce que j'appelle un « Profil du candidat idéal » en exposant en bref les aptitudes, les traits de personnalité et les habitudes de travail qui vous permettront de trouver la personne idéale.

Une fois que vous savez ce que vous voulez, commencez à chercher. N'attendez pas. Agissez dès maintenant. Si vous embauchez des étudiants pour l'été n'oubliez pas qu'ils songent déjà à se trouver un emploi.

Une autre clé de réussite est le volume. Vous désirez attirer le plus de candidats potentiels possible pour avoir un meilleur suite à la page 11 the résumé (because people do exaggerate and lie), 2) try to get some sense of the candidate's communication skills, work ethic and attitude, and 3) describe the job in some detail to ensure the person really wants the position. Invariably, this process eliminates a few candidates.

Once you've completed your telephone interviews, conduct face-to-face interviews with your short list. During a face-to-face interview, spend 80 percent of your time listening and observing and only 20 percent of your time talking. Have candidates elaborate on their background, and ask clarifying and probing questions. Give them typical situations in your business and ask them how they would respond. Be careful not to feed them the answers. For example, don't say "Here at our company, we operate as a team. Are you a team player?" What do you think they'll say? If you don't have a lot of experience interviewing, it's a good idea to read a book on the subject or search the internet for interviewing techniques.

The final step before you make the hiring decision is to check references.

Always, always, always check references. (Did I mention "Always check references"?) Failure to check references is one of the two biggest mistakes people make in the hiring process. (The other is failure to identify exactly what they're looking for.) Obviously, contact the references provided by the candidate, but also contact representatives of other employers they've worked for whom they haven't listed (unless they specifically ask you not to do so). Other checks may be appropriate as well, such as criminal-record checks for sensitive positions. And it doesn't hurt to do a Facebook or a Google search. It's interesting what can turn up.

Now, I know what you're saying. I'm only hiring summer staff. All this sounds like it will take a lot of time. It will. But how important is it? How much harm can a bad hire, even a seasonal employee, do to your business? If they turn off a customer who decides to take his or her business to your competition, what's the lifetime value of that customer? What about possible negative publicity or the referral business that you'll lose? And what about the time that you and other employees will spend training new hires and possibly having to cover up their mistakes? I find it puzzling that some businesses spend more time deciding what printer to purchase for the office than they spend deciding who to hire.

Sure, you can do the quick and dirty and hire whoever comes in the door – and you may get lucky and find a good employee or two. Or it may be a disaster. Either way, it's just by chance. Taking the time to do it right will help ensure that you get the right people for the job and for your business. And let's face it: your people are your business!

RECRUTEMENT de la page 9

choix. C'est la loi des moyennes : plus il y a de candidats, meilleurs sont les chances de trouver quelques perles. Il est sûr que vous devrez passer plus de temps à décider et c'est pourquoi vous devez commencer maintenant !

Comment attirer des candidats ? Les sites d'emploi sur Internet sont le premier choix des génies de l'informatique que sont les étudiants d'aujourd'hui. Les annonces dans les journaux coûtent chères et ne sont pas très efficaces, surtout quand il s'agit d'attirer des étudiants. Les guichets et salons d'emplois sont d'autres bonnes possibilités. Les petites annonces en lignes sur les sites tels que Kijiji sont des méthodes de plus en plus employées et nombre d'entre elles sont gratuites ! Les sites média sociaux tels que LinkedIn et même Facebook peuvent être utiles pour annoncer. Vous pouvez vous adresser à vos employés existants pour des recommandations mais attention à la partialité. N'oubliez pas d'utiliser la vieille méthode de mettre un signe « aide demandé » à la fenêtre.

La prochaine étape est la présélection. J'emploie un système simple à l'aide de trois couleurs : vert, jaune et rouge. Vert signifie « bonne possibilité », des candidats à interviewer. Jaune signifie « plus ou moins bon », à contacter seulement si c'est nécessaire. Rouge signifie « aux oubliettes ».

Au cours du processus de présélection, comparez les curriculum vitæ ou demandes à la description du poste. Si le poste exige d'écrire bien et lisiblement, vérifiez si la demande est claire et bien écrite. Si le travail exige de soulever des charges lourdes et un travail physique, voyez si la personne a de l'expérience à cet effet. Si le service à la clientèle est important, recherchez des personnes qui ont déjà travaillé chez McDonald ou dans des magasins de détail.

Cherchez à connaître le sens éthique de la personne et sa performance au travail dans le passé. La scolarité et les accomplissements à l'école, aux sport ou à des activités communautaires sont-ils mentionnés ? La personne a-t-elle déjà travaillé à temps partiel, ou distribué des journaux ?

Une fois que vous avez terminé votre présélection et choisi ceux et celles de la catégorie indiquée en « vert », vous êtes prêt pour les entrevues. Je pourrais écrire un livre sur le processus d'entrevue mais je vais me limiter ici à l'essentiel.

J'aime commencer par interviewer mes premiers huit candidats par téléphone (selon le nombre de postes à remplir). Cela peut prendre plus de temps que voulu mais permet à la fin d'économiser du temps en éliminant dès le départ les non désirables. Lors de l'entrevue téléphonique : 1) vérifiez et élucidez les renseignements sur le curriculum vitæ (certaines personnes exagèrent et mentent); 2) essayez de détecter les aptitudes à la communication du candidat, son sens éthique du travail et son attitude; 3) décrivez le travail en détail pour vous assurer que la personne désire vraiment le travail. Cette méthode vous permettra d'éliminer quelques candidats.

Une fois les entrevues téléphoniques terminées, le moment est venu d'avoir un face-à-face avec les candidats intéressants. Au cours de ce face-à-face, passez 80 pour cent du temps à écouter et à observer et 20 pour cent à parler. Demandez aux candidats d'élaborer et de vous éclairer sur leurs antécédents et sondez leurs dires en posant des questions. Exposez des situations typiques que vit votre entreprise et demandez de quelle façon ils réagiraient dans tel et tel cas. Assurez-vous de ne pas leur souffler les réponses. Par exemple, ne dites pas : ici nous fonctionnons en équipe, ou, travaillez-vous bien en d'équipe? Que pensez-vous qu'ils répondront ? Si vous n'avez pas beaucoup d'expérience à faire des entrevues il serait bon de lire un livre sur le sujet ou de trouver des techniques d'entrevue sur internet.

Vous voici arrivé à la dernière étape, celle de vérifier les références. Il faut toujours, mais toujours vérifier les références. (Ai-je bien dit « toujours vérifier les références » ?) Les interviewers qui négligent de le faire commettent l'une des deux plus graves erreurs. (L'autre est de ne pas identifier exactement la personne désirée). De toute évidence il faut contacter les références mais aussi les employeurs précédents non mentionnés (sauf si on vous demande expressément de ne pas le faire). Il pourrait également valoir la peine de vérifier, par exemple, s'il existe un dossier judiciaire, surtout s'il s'agit de combler un poste de confiance. Il peut être utile de chercher sur Facebook et Google. Il est intéressant de voir ce que l'on peut y trouver.

Je sais ce que vous pensez. Vous embauchez seulement du personnel saisonnier. Tout semble ici prendre beaucoup de temps. C'est vrai. Quelle en est l'importance ? Quelles pourraient être les conséquences d'embaucher la mauvaise personne, même pour un travail d'été ? S'il ou elle éloigne un client qui décide d'aller ailleurs, qu'elle valeur viable représente ce client ? Que dire de la mauvaise publicité ou de la référence d'affaire que vous perdez ? Que dire du temps que vous et les autres employés prenez à former les nouvelles recrues et possiblement à couvrir leurs erreurs ? Je trouve bizarre que certaines entreprises passent plus de temps à décider de l'achat d'une imprimante qu'elles en passent au recrutement.

Il est possible que la première personne qui se présente à votre porte soit la bonne et que vous dénchiez même deux bons employés ainsi. Il se peut aussi que ce soit un désastre. D'un côté comme de l'autre, c'est une chance à prendre. Prenez le temps de bien faire les choses et assurez-vous d'embaucher les bonnes personnes pour le poste et pour votre commerce. C'est un fait : Votre personnel c'est votre commerce !

Armstrong Moving: Helping to Raise the Performance of the Industry

Member Profile

By Kim Biggar

ARMSTRONG MOVING, of Mississauga, Ont., focuses on delivering a positive move experience to each and every client, aiming for 100 percent satisfaction in all moves. The company's investments in training, safety and security, its facilities, and IT and other technologies indicate its commitments to clients and staff alike, and have helped to build both client trust and a solid financial footing.

Armstrong is obviously doing lots of things right. Its after-move surveys show that 98 percent of customers would use the company's services again. In addition, its financial stability – supported by ownership of its offices and storage facility, as well as its trucks – has enabled the company to weather the economic downturn and be well positioned for the budding turnaround. Lastly, Doug Armstrong Sr., Dale Armstrong and Doug Armstrong were presented with CAM's 2009 Founders Award, recognizing their leadership in the industry.

In 1979, Dale Armstrong started Armstrong Moving, following in the family tradition established by his father with Bird's Moving in St. Catharines, Ont. The company joined United Van Lines at that time, and has been a member since. Current president Rod Speers joined Armstrong in 1994 to set up the company's international division. (Armstrong Moving continues to have two divisions: Armstrong Moving & Storage Ltd. for local and cross-country moves, and Armstrong International Movers for its global moves.)

The company has a wide global reach, moving people to and from about 70 countries a year.

HR Best Practices Create Value

Well before the Armstrong brothers began to remove themselves from the day-to-day operations of the company, Speers was designated to succeed them in the top management role. To ensure that the company remains in good hands, a successor to Speers has also been identified and is part of the current management team. Succession planning is an important success factor often overlooked by small and medium-sized businesses that tend to focus more on core business functions than on planning for contingencies. Armstrong's succession planning is just one of its HR best practices.

The company employs an average of 120 people who speak 17 different languages; the number of people fluctuates with the seasons, as with any moving company. Low staff turnover is illustrated by employees' average of 19 years with the firm. Use of a consultant, a "people productivity firm," helps Armstrong match its hires to its needs

LA COMPAGNIE Armstrong Moving de Mississauga, ON, mise à offrir une expérience de déménagement positive à ses clients ainsi qu'à leur donner entière satisfaction. Les investissements dans la formation, la sécurité, les installations et les technologies informatiques sont autant de facteurs qui témoignent de ses efforts à consolider la confiance de ses clients et de son personnel ainsi que ses résultats financiers.

Il n'est pas à douter que la Compagnie Armstrong fait beaucoup de choses positives. Ses sondages indiquent que 98 pour cent des clients utiliseraient encore ses services. Sa stabilité financière, aidé du fait qu'elle détient ses propres bureaux, installations d'entreposage et camions, lui a permis de contourner le ralentissement économique et de prendre un nouvel essor. Doug Armstrong père, Dale et Doug Armstrong fils, ont reçu le Prix des fondateurs de l'ACD en 2009 en reconnaissance de leur leadership dans l'industrie.

Dale Armstrong a fondé Armstrong Moving en 1979, fidèle à une tradition familiale établie par son père qui avait fondé Bird's Moving à St. Catharines, ON. La compagnie s'était affiliée à United Van Lines à l'époque et en est toujours membre. Rod Speers, le président actuel est arrivé chez Armstrong en 1994 et a fondé la division internationale. (Armstrong Moving compte toujours deux divisions : Armstrong Moving & Storage Ltd pour les déménagements locaux et dans le pays et Armstrong International Movers pour ceux dans le monde.)

and culture, says Speers.

The same consultant provides training that is focused each year on a different theme. This year, notes Speers, "touch points" are in the training spotlight; whenever employees touch customers – on the phone, upon arrival at a home – they make an important impression. They are receiving ongoing training to make certain those impressions are positive. Just about everybody in the company – drivers, receptionists, operations people – receives training; three thousand man-hours a year are devoted to it.

In addition to implementing effective hiring and training policies for its employees, Armstrong focuses on retaining those employees. The company holds regular "Town Hall meetings," at which employees can openly question and discuss company matters. Engaged in this way, employees gain a sense of ownership, fostering loyalty to and pride in the company.

The Armstrong building, located near the busy intersection of Highways 410 and 407, was designed not only to be serviceable for the company's operations; it is also a nice environment in which to work, comfortable and attractive for staff.

Being Green in a Transportation Industry

Having carbon-neutral operations in a fuel-dependent industry isn't easy. Armstrong aims to do just that through its involvement with Tree Canada, explains Speers. Armstrong provides funds to that organization sufficient to plant a tree for each of its moves. The carbon dioxide consumed by those trees is intended to offset the CO<sub>2</sub> from the company's truck emissions. In addition, the new trees replace those culled to create corrugated material, used heavily in the moving industry. Armstrong is also well on its way to being paperless.

The company's 85,000-square-foot facility was designed to be environment-friendly, as well as high-tech. All lighting and climate control in the building is energy efficient, operated from a sophisticated computer system. Security systems are equally advanced. For example, the warehouse sprinkler system uses a fast-response technology that targets specific risk areas, and a swipe-card system is in place to limit access within the building.

Winning the Founders Award

While CAM's Founders Award was presented in 2009 to Doug Armstrong Sr., and brothers Dale and Doug Armstrong as individuals, it reflects on Armstrong Moving's culture by extension. The award is given annually to an individual or group of individuals who have made an outstanding contribution to the moving profession, demonstrated innovation and leadership, raised the profile and performance of the industry, promoted quality and integrity by les jours, M. Speers avait été nommé pour leur succéder à la haute direction. Pour s'assurer que la compagnie demeura entre bonnes mains, un successeur, membre de l'équipe de gestion, a déjà été choisi. La planification de la relève est un facteur important, souvent négligé par les petites et moyennes entreprises qui misent surtout sur fonctions opérationnelles de base sans trop songer aux imprévus. La planification de la relève chez Armstrong n'est que l'une de ses bonnes pratiques en gestion des RH.

La compagnie emploie environ 120 personnes qui parlent en tout, 17 différentes langues. Ce nombre fluctue cependant avec les saisons comme dans les autres compagnies de déménagement. Le roulement du personnel est faible et la moyenne au service de la compagnie est de 19 ans. Pour trouver des personnes qui cadrent avec les besoins et la culture de la compagnie, Armstrong emploie les services d'un consultant extérieur.

Ce même consultant procure une formation axée sur un thème différent chaque année, signale M. Speers. Cette année le thème pour la formation est « les points de service ». Qu'il s'agisse de servir les clients au téléphone ou à l'arrivée chez le client, ils doivent laisser une impression favorable. Ils reçoivent une formation continue pour assurer un impact positif. À peu près tout le monde à la compagnie, camionneurs, réceptionnistes, personnel de bureau, reçoivent une formation; on y consacre trois milles heures/hommes par année.

En plus d'adopter des politiques d'embauche et de formation efficaces, Armstrong mise sur la rétention du personnel. La compagnie tient régulièrement des réunions « genre hôtel de ville » où les employés peuvent poser des questions et discuter de certains enjeux. Embauchés ainsi, ils ont un sens d'appartenance, manifestent de la loyauté et font la fierté de la compagnie.

L'immeuble Armstrong, qui est situé aux intersections des routes très achalandées 410 et 407 n'a pas seulement été conçu pour abriter les activités de la compagnie; il offre un environnement agréable et confortable où il fait bon travailler.

Se mettre au vert dans l'industrie du transport

Il n'est pas facile de favoriser une exploitation carboneutre dans une industrie qui compte sur le carburant pour vivre. C'est pourtant ce que fait Armstrong en participant à Arbres Canada nous dit M. Speers. Armstrong fait un don suffisant pour planter un arbre par déménagement. Le gaz carbonique que les nouveaux arbres absorbent vise contrecarrer les émissions de CO<sub>2</sub> que produisent ses camions. En outre, les nouveaux arbres remplacent ceux coupés pour fabriquer des ondulés grandement utilisés dans l'industrie du déménagement. Armstrong est également en voie de fonctionner sans papier.

Les aménagements d'une superficie de 85 000 pieds carrés sont conçus écologiques et à la fine pointe de la technologie. Les lumières et le conditionnement d'air sont éconergétiques et fonctionnent par un savant système informatique. Les systèmes de sécurité sont également très perfectionnés. Par exemple, le système d'irrigation par aspersion dans l'entrepôt utilise une technologie de réponse rapide dans les aires à risque et un système de carte magnétique est en place pour l'imiter l'accès à l'immeuble.

Récipiendaire du prix des fondateurs

Bien que le prix des fondateurs de l'ACD ait été présenté à Doug Armstrong et à ses fils Dale et Doug en 2009, il reflète la culture de la compagnie. Ce prix est décerné tous les ans aux personnes ou groupes d'individus qui contribuent de façon exemplaire à la profession de déménageur, font preuve de leadership et d'innovation, rehausse le profil et la performance de l'industrie, préconise la qualité et l'intégrité et servent de mentor aux autres dans la profession.

Avec autant d'attributs, la mise sur la satisfaction des clients et la planification de l'avenir, il n'est pas à douter que le succès continuera de sourire à Armstrong Moving dans l'industrie du déménagement canadien et international.

Maximizing Your Company's Impact on Social Networks

By BJ Farish

IF YOU ARE NOT on Facebook or Twitter, you have at least heard about those and other social networking sites. Even both of my grandmothers have Facebook accounts so that they can stay connected with family. In fact, one of them even has her very own blog. With 350 million active users, 50% of which log on in any given day,

Facebook has a huge sphere of influence that you can put to work and that is only one of many tools available to you.

Now is the time to get engaged in online marketing. All of the tools mentioned here can work together to promote your brand. Here's a quick how-to guide to maximize your online impact (don't skip steps as there are some helpful tips that you may or may not be doing):

Website – Most businesses have a website, but are you cross-linking with other sites? Have you integrated an RSS feed from your Twitter account to update your page regularly? Do you update your content at least monthly to boost your search engine results? These are all things to consider to drive traffic to your site.

Facebook – Create a page for your business. This is easily done with your current Facebook account. What?! You don't have one?! Create your own profile first, then you can create a Facebook page for your company. Many retailers and restaurants have contests for monthly prizes, such as a 10% off coupon, free drink, and more as incentives to become fans of their pages. You can keep your customers updated on a regular basis with helpful

Maximiser votre présence sur les réseaux sociaux

Par BJ Farish

SI VOUS N'AVEZ PAS de compte Facebook ou Twitter, vous avez du moins entendu parler de ces sites de réseautage et de d'autres. Même mes deux grands-mères ont un profil sur Facebook pour demeurer en contact avec la famille. En fait, l'une d'elles a son propre blogue. Il y a environ 350 millions d'utilisateurs, dont 50 % ouvrent une session un jour ou l'autre. Il s'agit donc d'une sphère d'influence considérable que vous pouvez exploiter et il ne s'agit là que de l'un des nombreux outils à votre portée.

Il est temps de vous mettre à l'heure du marketing en ligne. Tous les outils ici mentionnés peuvent servir à promouvoir votre entreprise. Voici un guide rapide pour maximiser votre présence en ligne (ne sautez pas de points car il pourrait y en avoir que vous ne connaissez pas) :

Site web – La plupart des commerces ont un site web mais d'autres sites ont-ils des liens vers le vôtre ? Votre compte Twitter est-il doté d'un lecteur de fil RSS pour actualiser votre page régulièrement ? Mettez-vous le contenu à jour au moins une fois par mois pour amplifier les résultats du moteur de recherche ? Vous devez tenir compte de ces facteurs pour que les usagers soient dirigés vers votre site.

Facebook – Concevez une page pour votre commerce. C'est simple à préparer à votre compte actuel. Quoi ? Vous n'en avez pas ? Préparez d'abord votre profil et créez ensuite une page sur votre compagnie. Plusieurs restaurants et magasins organisent des concours et offrent des prix chaque mois, comme un coupon de 10 % de rabais, une boisson gratuite ou d'autres incitatifs qui fidélisent les usagers. Vous pouvez tenir vos clients à jour en leur offrant des conseils pour déménager, des spéciaux et des nouvelles de l'industrie.

Twitter – Cet outil de communication peut être très efficace et vous faire économiser du temps s'il est bien employé. Un simple message relie votre compte Twitter à celui de Facebook, LinkedIn et à votre site web pour mettre votre page à jour. (Quoi ? Vous n'envoyez pas de télé-messages ? Vous pouvez toujours effectuer une mise à jour dans le confort de votre foyer.) Il ne faut pas plus de 140 caractères pour faire des mises à jour aussi souvent que désiré et garder ainsi votre message devant les yeux de vos clients actuels et éventuels. Allez sur le site www.tinyurl.com pour convertir de longues adresses web en un format « tweetable », ce qui vous laisse assez d'espace pour ajouter un commentaire.

Blogue – Tenez vos clients à jour sur vos activités. Avez-vous ouvert un nouveau local ? Avez-vous de nouveaux employés ? Avez-vous actualisé votre système de gestion de la clientèle ? Avez-vous organisé un pique-nique ? Des photos de vos locaux et de vos employés (avec leur permission bien sûr) est un excellent moyen d'intéresser vos clients. Les gens aiment faire affaires avec ceux avec qui ils ont de bonnes relations. Si vous mettez votre site ou blogue en valeur par une touche personnelle, vous consolidez vos liens-clients.

LinkedIn – Mon ado appelle LinkedIn, le Facebook du commerce. Vous pouvez certainement contacter d'anciens collègues socialement mais il s'agit aussi d'un

Twitter – If used properly, Twitter can be a very effective and time-saving communications tool. You can link your Twitter account so that it updates your company’s Facebook page, LinkedIn status, and your website with one simple text message. (What?! You don’t text?! You can always update from the comfort of your computer.) In 140 characters or less, you can send updates as often as necessary to keep your message in front of your prospective and current customers. www.tinyurl.com converts lengthy web addresses to a tweetable size so that you still have room to make a comment.

Company blog – Keep your customers updated with your company’s activities. Did you open a new location? Add new employees? Upgrade your Customer/Client Relationship Management (CRM) system? Have a summer picnic? Posting pictures of your offices and employees (with their permission, of course) is a great way to engage with your customers. your website or blog with personal touches will go a long way to strengthening your customers’ ties to your organization.

LinkedIn – My teenage son calls LinkedIn the Facebook of business. You can certainly get in touch with former co-workers and use it as more of a social tool if you want, but LinkedIn is a very powerful network building tool. Joining groups can keep you updated on the industry but can also put you in touch with potential customers. What groups are your customers members of? Join those groups and post helpful tips in the discussion areas. You will create value for your customers and your company.
