CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

MESSAGE DU PRÉSIDENT DU CONSEIL

Cam Carswell

I am very happy with the many changes and progress underway at the Association, thanks to the national office's team of President Nancy Irvine and Administrative Manager Marian McGuire. Our dynamic duo is holding it all together while handling a record number of phone inquiries, helping out members with local issues, crafting messages for digital and print media, updating tired documents, improving the website, and a lot more.

We've been working hard to involve our membership in helping us to set the future development of the Association. Of course, the path CAM takes is laid out by our Board of Directors. Thanks to all of our 17 directors for their time and dedication in planning CAM's business direction for the years to come.

Once the course is struck, a lot of the heavy lifting is done by CAM's working committees that are comprised of volunteers from the membership. I am enthusiastic about the

Je suis très heureux des nombreux changements mis en place et du progrès accompli au sein de l'association, et ce, grâce à l'équipe de notre bureau national composée de la présidente, Nancy Irvine, et de notre directrice administrative, Marian McGuire. Notre dynamique duo en assure le bon fonctionnement tout en traitant un nombre record de demandes de renseignements téléphoniques, en aidant les membres à résoudre des préoccupations d'ordre local, en élaborant des messages destinés à nos médias sociaux et aux imprimés, en mettant à jour des documents épuisés, en améliorant notre site Web, et encore plus.

Nous avons travaillé sans relâche afin d'impliquer nos membres dans la planification du développement futur de l'association. Bien entendu, la voie empruntée par l'ACD est ultimement définie par notre conseil d'administration. Merci à chacun de nos 17 administrateurs pour leur temps et leur dévouement dans la planification des orientations de l'ACD pour les années à venir.

Une fois que les orientations souhaitées sont bien déterminées, les comités de travail de l'ACD, composés de membres bénévoles, assument une grande partie des tâches les plus ardues. Je suis enthousiasmé par le regain d'intérêt de tous nos comités. En tant que président du conseil, il m'est possible de participer à toutes les réunions des divers comités et j'essaie de le faire le plus souvent possible. Nos comités ont adopté cette vision de changement et élaborent présentement de nouveaux plans, tels que notre dynamique programme de commandites, dans le but d'améliorer l'ACD et de favoriser son développement et son renforcement. De plus en plus de membres s'engagent et nous sommes ravis de toutes les idées qui circulent à cet égard.

Lorsque j'ai débuté dans le rôle de président du conseil en novembre 2017, l'ACD ne bénéficiait pratiquement d'aucune visibilité sur les médias sociaux et il semblait évident que le public ne connaissait pas l'ACD ni tout ce que l'association pouvait leur apporter. Il était important pour Nancy et moi que nous fassions mieux connaître nos déménageurs certifiés afin de lutter contre tous ces déménageurs malhonnêtes qui sévissent plus que jamais.

La notoriété de la marque a été au cœur des préoccupations de Nancy et de moi-même au cours de ma première année de présidence. Nous avons mis en place quatre volets de médias sociaux en nous assurant que chaque publication allait inciter les consommateurs à contacter renewed interest of the committees. As Chair, I am welcome to sit in on all committee meetings and often do. Our committees have embraced change and are forming new plans, like our dynamic sponsorship program, to enhance CAM and help it strengthen and grow. More of our members are getting engaged and we're thrilled with the ideas that are flowing.

We've had good nation-wide media exposure.

When I moved into the role of Chair in November 2017, CAM had virtually no social media exposure and it seemed clear that the public knew nothing about CAM and what it could provide them. It was important to both Nancy and me that we get the word out about our certified movers to combat the rogues that were more prevalent than ever.

Brand awareness was the major focus of both Nancy and me during my first year in office. We kick started four streams of social media with every post urging consumers to contact CAM to find reliable, trusted movers. Last Spring, we connected with the 10 Better Business Bureaus in Canada and partnered on a "May is Moving Month" media campaign. This campaign built upon positive joint messages that existed, but were never really used. We freshened them up, circulated them throughout both organizations, and pressed them into social media.

As a result, we've had good nation-wide media exposure which resulted in more consumers doing their research, searching for CAM movers, and getting their quote in writing before choosing their mover. Our statistics show that in the last year, our website traffic on mover.net is up 11 per cent with an average of 3,500 sessions per month. As well, our social media followers are increasing at regular intervals each month. If you haven't already, I ask that you like our Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter and Instagram pages to have access to messaging that you can use.

Our internal stats are also very encouraging. We're handling, on average, over 200 referrals and inquiries per month. We expanded the search field for moving companies on our website, which has allowed for more movers in a 100 km radius to be contacted.

I see both trends proving that our message is starting to resonate with the public. We are encouraged and hopeful that this year's campaign will bring even more consumers to our doors looking for referrals to certified professional movers that only CAM can provide.

We are working hard to provide you with as many leads as possible. Thank you for your continued support of our Association.

l'ACD pour trouver des déménageurs fiables et réputés. Le printemps dernier, nous avons noué des liens avec les 10 bureaux d'éthique commerciale du Canada (BBB) et avons collaboré à une campagne médiatique intitulée « Mai est le mois du déménagement ». Cette campagne s'est construite sur des messages communs positifs qui existaient déjà, mais n'avaient jamais été réellement utilisés. Nous les avons rafraîchis, les avons fait circuler à l'intérieur des deux organisations et les avons publiés dans nos différents médias sociaux.

En conséquence, nous avons bénéficié d'une bonne couverture médiatique à l'échelle nationale, ce qui a poussé un plus grand nombre de consommateurs à effectuer des recherches, principalement auprès des déménageurs membres de l'ACD, et à s'assurer d'obtenir leur devis par écrit avant de sélectionner leur déménageur. Nos statistiques montrent qu'au cours de la dernière année, le trafic de notre site Web sur mover.net a augmenté de 11 %, avec une moyenne de 3 500 sessions par mois. De plus, nos abonnés sur les médias sociaux augmentent chaque mois. Si vous ne l'avez pas déjà fait, je vous demande d'inscrire des mentions « J'aime » sur nos pages Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter et Instagram afin de pouvoir par la suite profiter de messages qui vous seront d'une grande utilité.

Nous avons bénéficié d'une bonne couverture médiatique à l'échelle nationale.

Nos statistiques internes sont également très encourageantes. Nous traitons en moyenne plus de 200 références et demandes de renseignements par mois. Nous avons développé davantage le champ de recherche des entreprises de déménagement sur notre site Web, ce qui a permis à un plus grand nombre de membres déménageurs situés dans un rayon de 100 km d'être contactés.

Je constate que ces deux orientations tendent à prouver que notre message commence à trouver écho auprès du grand public. Nous sommes encouragés et espérons que la campagne de cette année suscitera l'intérêt d'encore plus de consommateurs à la recherche de références de déménageurs professionnels certifiés que seule l'ACD est en mesure de leur fournir.

Nous travaillons très fort pour vous fournir le plus de prospects possibles. Merci pour votre soutien indéfectible envers notre association.

OVERSEAS

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

MESSAGE DE LA PRÉSIDENTE

Nancy Irvine

We've focused a lot on millennials in the past year. Not only do we see how our mover member millennials do their job a little bit differently than us older folks, but also how consumers of that generation research moving opportunities. Particularly challenging is the way new up-and-coming moving companies are doing their business – with a focus on technology and equipment.

Dealing with the consumer issue has been easy. CAM has overhauled its communication plan and made social media the main venue for getting the message out to consumers about using CAM members. We know it's working as our followers increase monthly, as do calls and inquiries into our CAM office about mover member referrals.

We've had rousing debates at the Board and Committee levels for the last few months as to what constitutes a mover in this day and age. As a result, CAM is taking a long look at who we are now and where we want to go.

Dealing with how millennials do their job a bit differently has been interesting. There are so many different technologies and programs that are now being offered to movers to help them do their job more efficiently and allow for that flexibility in work hours and virtual services that this generation craves. We've had many suppliers come on board that provide technological breakthroughs like move management software and virtual surveying programs. CAM hosted our first "Research & Development" component at our conference this past year. We featured a stair-climbing moving dolly which is now out in the field being tested by several of our members to work out the kinks for the next prototype which will be featured at our 2019 trade show. Attendees also had their first look at an up-and-coming app that hosts a centralized, country-wide, labour pool in the United States.

But dealing with the "new" mover has been a different story. Younger moving company owners have small, upstart operations that don't rely on a lot of real estate, but rather focus on equipment and technology. These movers are the new-wave operators that dispatch their crews directly

Nous nous sommes beaucoup concentrés sur la génération Y au cours de la dernière année. Non seulement pouvons-nous constater comment les membres déménageurs de notre association faisant partie de cette génération effectuent leur travail de manière différente à celle de leurs prédécesseurs, mais aussi comment les consommateurs de cette même génération recherchent différentes opportunités de déménagement. La façon dont les nouvelles entreprises de déménagement émergentes exercent leurs activités - en mettant l'accent sur la technologie et l'équipement – représente un défi particulièrement complexe.

Traiter avec la problématique liée au consommateur fut relativement facile. L'ACD a revu son plan de communication et a priorisé les médias sociaux comme principal moyen de faire passer le message aux consommateurs relativement à l'utilisation des services des membres de l'ACD. Nous savons que cela fonctionne bien compte-tenu de l'augmentation continue de nos abonnés à tous les mois, de même qu'en raison des appels et des demandes d'information adressés au bureau de l'ACD en rapport avec des références de déménageurs.

Ce fut particulièrement intéressant pour nous d'être confrontés à la façon dont les milléniaux effectuent leur travail de manière fort différente. Il y a tellement de nombreux programmes et technologies qui sont maintenant proposés aux déménageurs pour les aider à effectuer leur travail tout en permettant une plus grande flexibilité dans les horaires de travail ainsi que pour l'accès aux différents services virtuels auxquels aspire cette génération. De nombreux fournisseurs qui se sont joints à nous proposent des avancées technologiques majeures telles que des logiciels de gestion de déménagement et des programmes de sondages virtuels. L'ACD a organisé son premier volet de «Recherche et Développement» lors de notre conférence de l'année dernière. Nous y avons présenté un chariot de déménagement monte escaliers qui est maintenant testé sur le terrain par plusieurs de nos membres afin d'éliminer les petits bogues existants en vue de l'élaboration du prochain prototype qui sera présenté à notre salon commercial de 2019. Les participants ont également découvert pour la première fois une application émergente qui héberge un bassin de main-d'œuvre centralisé à la grandeur des États-Unis.

Mais traiter avec ce « nouveau » style de déménageur s'est avéré une toute autre histoire. Les plus jeunes propriétaires d'entreprises de déménagement possèdent de petites exploitations qui requièrent très peu d'actifs immobiliers, mais se concentrent plutôt sur l'équipement et la technologie. Ces déménageurs sont des exploitants de la nouvelle vague qui envoient leurs équipes directement sur le terrain, dans des camions, et utilisent une multitude d'applications pour les déménagements et de to trucks and use a plethora of moving apps and computer systems to run their businesses. When they purchase more trucks, they just acquire more space in a gated facility that they share with other truck companies. In the off chance that they need temporary storage, they rent a facility for a short period of time. Without having a massive overhead to deal with, they can hold all their supplies and stockpiles in storage units.

We've had rousing debates at the Board and Committee levels for the last few months as to what constitutes a mover in this day and age. As a result, CAM is taking a long look at who we are now and where we want to go. Priority of course is to satisfy and service our current members without jeopardizing our standards or losing our identity as the Canadian trade association of certified, professional movers. With guidance from the Executive and Board, and input from our membership, we are working on overhauling and right-fitting our Association to meet today's industry needs and challenges.

It's not always easy to try and find the balance between the old and the new. As we now move into the fourth and fifth generation of movers, we recognize that there are different approaches to how to tackle issues, promote ideas, and deal with change. And it's working through these challenges that are going to make CAM even stronger as we move into our next 50 years.

Nancy Irvine
President

systèmes informatiques pour gérer leurs activités. Lorsqu'ils achètent plus de camions, ils se contentent simplement d'acquiescer plus d'espace dans une installation sécurisée qu'ils partagent avec d'autres entreprises de camionnage. Dans les cas où un besoin d'entreposage temporaire additionnel est requis, ils louent alors une installation pour une brève période. Sans avoir à supporter d'énormes frais généraux, ils peuvent ainsi entreposer toutes leurs fournitures et leur matériel de déménagement dans des unités d'entreposage appropriées.

Ce n'est pas toujours facile d'essayer de trouver l'équilibre entre l'ancien et le nouveau. Au cours des derniers mois, nous avons eu des débats animés au sein du conseil d'administration et de nos divers comités sur la question de déterminer ce qui représente un déménageur digne de confiance de nos jours. Au moment où nous voyons pointer les quatrième et cinquième générations de déménageurs, nous reconnaissons qu'il existe différentes approches pour aborder les problèmes, promouvoir les idées et faire face au changement. Cependant, notre priorité est toujours de satisfaire et servir nos membres actuels sans compromettre nos normes en vigueur ni perdre notre identité propre en tant qu'association professionnelle canadienne de déménageurs professionnels certifiés.

C'est en s'attaquant à ces défis et en les surmontant, sous les directions de l'exécutif et du conseil d'administration ainsi que grâce aux contributions de nos membres, que l'ACD sera encore plus forte à l'aube de nos cinquante prochaines années.

The Casual Labour Crisis

How the industry can help itself

By/par Alison Mintenko-Crane

Crise liée à la disponibilité de personnel occasionnel

Comment l'industrie peut s'aider elle-même

While the casual labour market crisis in Canada continues to grow, a company in the U.S. has made a major effort to help alleviate the problem there.

The LaborNet Consortium has created an app that allows van lines, independents, and labourers to use it in a mutually beneficial manner – companies and independents to provide the work and labourers to get the work done.

Three years ago LaborNet was involved in their first AMSA convention, when the app was little more than a concept in the developmental stages.

“We took in a lot of advice and a lot of feedback and most of that feedback was that the problem was not necessarily

Alors que la crise du marché de la main d'œuvre temporaire au Canada continue de s'aggraver, une entreprise américaine a déployé des efforts considérables pour contribuer à atténuer ce problème sur place.

Le consortium LaborNet a conçu une application qui permet aux compagnies de transport, aux entreprises indépendantes et aux travailleurs de l'utiliser de manière mutuellement bénéfique : les sociétés corporatives et les entreprises indépendantes s'assurent de fournir du travail tandis que la main-d'œuvre nécessaire disponible veille à l'exécution du travail.

finding labour – even though that can be a problem – but more so finding people who are qualified and can pass a background screen,” explains Jason Hopkins, Director of Sales and Marketing at Audit Information Services Inc., the company who developed LaborNet. “A recurring theme was the need for an industry standard background check matrix.”

The company took that feedback and ran with it, transitioning to approaching independents and van lines individually, sharing what the LaborNet background check entailed, demonstrating the matrix, and asking for feedback on what else should be included or adjusted. The idea behind that was to have an approved background matrix that LaborNet will provide to avoid van lines/independents having to do the legwork themselves.

Having recently attended their fourth AMSA convention, LaborNet has made great progress towards the goal of being an industry consortium for labour with participation of several van lines and independents signed on in the U.S. already.

Since that last convention they have been asking for additional input and sharing information in an effort to have the app more fully supported.

“At this point we have the platform in place and now we’re just looking for the interest and the traction from the industry,” says Hopkins.

A screenshot of the LaborNet app.

Une capture d'écran de l'application LaborNet.

How it works

LaborNet has taken into account that people have different technological skill levels and they have designed the app to be user-friendly.

Il y a trois ans, LaborNet participait à son premier congrès de l'AMSA alors que son application n'était encore qu'un concept en développement.

« Nous avons recueilli beaucoup de conseils et beaucoup de rétroactions, et la majorité de ces rétroactions nous indiquaient que le problème n'était pas forcément de trouver du travail – même si cela pouvait poser problème – mais plutôt de trouver des personnes qualifiées dont les antécédents pouvaient être vérifiés », explique Jason Hopkins, directeur des ventes et du marketing chez Audit Information Services Inc., la société qui a développé LaborNet. « Un thème récurrent concernait le besoin d'une grille de vérification des antécédents répondant aux normes de l'industrie. »

L'entreprise a pris note de ces commentaires et a poursuivi dans ce sens en passant à une approche individuelle auprès des compagnies indépendantes et des compagnies de transport en leur expliquant les implications de la grille de vérification des antécédents de LaborNet et démontrant les possibilités de cette grille, puis en requérant de leur part des commentaires sur les autres éléments susceptibles d'être inclus ou ajustés. L'idée sous-jacente était de disposer d'une grille certifiée de vérification des antécédents qui serait fournie par LaborNet afin d'éviter que les entreprises de camionnage/entreprises indépendantes n'aient pas à effectuer elles-mêmes les démarches nécessaires.

Ayant récemment assisté au quatrième congrès annuel de l'AMSA, LaborNet a réalisé des progrès marqués en vue de devenir un consortium industriel pour la main-d'œuvre avec la participation de plusieurs entreprises de transport et entreprises indépendantes déjà inscrites aux États-Unis.

Depuis le dernier congrès, l'entreprise a travaillé sur les aspects marketing en demandant des commentaires supplémentaires et en partageant des informations afin de développer une application bénéficiant d'un support accru.

« À ce stade, la plate-forme est en place et nous ne recherchons plus qu'à susciter l'intérêt et l'adhésion des membres de l'industrie », déclare Hopkins.

Quel est son fonctionnement

LaborNet a tenu compte du fait que les gens possèdent différents niveaux de compétences technologiques et s'est efforcée de concevoir une application la plus conviviale possible.

« C'est un outil destiné à aider tous les conducteurs et agents routiers devant embaucher des travailleurs occasionnels ou contractuels, un emploi à la fois, dans le cadre de leurs activités quotidiennes », a déclaré Hopkins.

Les chauffeurs et les entreprises de déménagement peuvent rechercher des travailleurs par emplacement et dans un rayon approprié et concevoir des offres d'emploi spécifiques permettant d'y intégrer des informations précises sur le travail lui-même - dates et heures, nombre de travailleurs nécessaires, etc. Les offres d'emploi peuvent également être conçues directement sur l'application.

Les chauffeurs qui se retrouvent dans une situation difficile en raison de la non-disponibilité des travailleurs ont ainsi la possibilité d'accéder à l'application et recruter leurs

“It’s meant to be a tool to help all over-the-road drivers and agents who are hiring casual or contract labour one job at a time, as part of their day-to-day operations,” said Hopkins.

Drivers and moving companies can search for labourers by location and within certain distances, and create job postings that allow for entering details about the job itself – dates and times, how many labourers are needed, etc. Job offers can also be made directly on the app.

Drivers in a pinch due to cancelled labourers can go on the app and find their own labourers instead of having to call around to agents.

Once a job is posted an alert goes out to labourers in the area, notifying them of the job and allowing them to review and apply for it on the app.

Each labourer has a profile which contains an updated photo and a verification of their background check completed by LaborNet partner ClearStar. Profiles also permit for ratings and reviews on a labourer’s work history from previous jobs, which allows drivers and van lines a broader view of someone’s work ethic.

Labourers can also use their profile to list any certifications they may have, besides including information on whether they have ever been on a military base before (which can be helpful when a job involves having to be on a base). The inclusion of the ratings and reviews on profiles helps keep the labourer accountable, and they are required to pay for their own propres aides plutôt que de devoir faire appel à des agences de personnel.

Une fois qu’un emploi est affiché, une alerte est envoyée à tous les travailleurs disponibles de la région, les informant du poste offert et leur permettant de consulter cette offre et de postuler pour le poste directement sur l’application.

Chaque travailleur a un profil personnel qui intègre une photo mise à jour ainsi qu’une vérification de ses antécédents professionnels effectuée par le partenaire de LaborNet, ClearStar. Les profils permettent également d’évaluer et de réviser les antécédents professionnels d’un travailleur par rapport à des emplois précédents, ce qui permet aux chauffeurs et aux entreprises de transport d’avoir une meilleure idée de l’éthique de travail de la personne considérée.

Les travailleurs peuvent également utiliser leur profil pour y lister toutes les certifications qu’ils détiennent, en plus d’indiquer s’ils ont déjà travaillé sur une base militaire (ce qui peut être utile lorsqu’un emploi proposé implique de devoir travailler sur une base). L’inclusion des évaluations et des critiques dans les profils aide à juger de l’imputabilité du travailleur dans le cadre de ses fonctions et celui-ci est également tenu de payer pour sa propre vérification de ses antécédents professionnels, ce qui réduit le risque que les employeurs aient à déboursier de l’argent sur une personne qui risque de ne pas convenir.

Les entreprises de déménagement ont également accès à une version de bureau de l’application, tandis que les conducteurs et les travailleurs peuvent y accéder via un appareil intelligent.

Une chaîne YouTube propose des vidéos didactiques variées, que ce soit sur le téléchargement de l’application, la publication d’offres d’emploi et sur la façon d’inviter des postulants à travailler pour vous, ce qui simplifie encore plus le processus.

Pourquoi est-ce nécessaire?

En raison de l’augmentation récente et des augmentations futures du salaire minimum, les travailleurs s’attendent à plus d’argent, et avec la baisse du taux de chômage, le bassin des ressources en main-d’œuvre se raréfie dans l’ensemble du secteur.

Les entreprises doivent également s’adapter à une nouvelle catégorie de travailleurs, a déclaré Hopkins. Les nouveaux travailleurs qui s’ajoutent souhaitent demeurer occupés. Ils désirent se voir proposer une formation supplémentaire et avoir une possibilité d’avancement, et c’est donc pourquoi la commodité d’une telle application dans un monde de plus en plus axé sur le cyberespace convient parfaitement.

Il se peut que certaines entreprises estiment ne pas avoir besoin de l’application du tout; peut-être que l’approche considérée par le passé a toujours bien fonctionné pour eux jusqu’à présent. Toutefois, le fait de rechercher et d’embaucher des travailleurs inconnus peut présenter un risque potentiel pour votre entreprise. Les biens volés ou même les voies de fait peuvent se transformer en cauchemar au niveau de vos relations publiques, notamment grâce à la background check, alleviating the risk of employers having to shell out money on a person who may not pan out.

Moving companies also have access to a desktop version of the app, while drivers and labourers can access it through a smart device.

A YouTube channel has instructional videos on everything from downloading the app, how to post jobs, and how to invite labourers to work for you, which simplifies the process further.

Why is it necessary?

With recent and future increases of minimum wage labourers expect more money, and with unemployment rates sinking, the labour resource pool is dwindling industry-wide.

Companies also have to adapt to a new breed of labourer, said Hopkins. New people coming in want to be kept busy. They want to be offered additional training and to have the opportunity for advancement, and the convenience of an app in an increasingly cyber-centric world is a perfect fit.

There may be companies that feel they don't need the app at all; maybe what they've been doing has worked for them so far. But having to search for and hire unknown labourers can pose a risk to your business. Stolen property or even instances of assault can turn into a PR nightmare, especially with the ease people have to post reviews and comments online.

"I look at the way we're trying to do this – to be a centralized solution – and I tell people, 'It's an industry solution for facilité avec laquelle les utilisateurs peuvent afficher des critiques et des commentaires en ligne.

« Je regarde la façon dont nous essayons de nous avérer être une solution centralisée et je dis aux gens :

"C'est une solution de l'industrie pour un problème de l'industrie", car, en tant que LaborNet, nous ne pouvons pas le résoudre sans que l'industrie ne l'adopte. Mais pour que l'industrie l'adopte et permette ainsi qu'elle fonctionne efficacement, l'industrie doit définitivement y ajouter sa propre contribution », a souligné Hopkins.

Il ne fait aucun doute que la normalisation des vérifications d'antécédents professionnels et le fait d'avoir une source unique de travailleurs à la recherche d'un emploi et d'employeurs affichant des offres d'emploi profiteraient à toutes les parties.

Le consortium LaborNet a pour objectif d'alléger le fardeau des entreprises en leur fournissant des informations uniformes pour tous les secteurs concernés, en leur offrant un accès à un bassin de main-d'œuvre motivée et responsable et en réduisant le temps passé par les entreprises à la recherche de ces travailleurs.

Quelle est la prochaine étape?

Une fois que la grille d'évaluation aura été adoptée par l'industrie, LaborNet s'intéressera ensuite à la façon dont il pourra accroître le bassin de main-d'œuvre et, plus précisément, an industry problem,' because we can't solve it as LaborNet without the industry adopting it. But in order for the industry to adopt it and for it to work best, the industry has to put something into it," Hopkins stressed.

There's no disputing that standardizing background checks and having one source for labourers to find work and employers to post jobs would benefit all parties.

The LaborNet Consortium aims to lessen the burden for companies, providing uniform information across the board, access to an eager and accountable labour service and less time spent by companies trying to find those labourers.

What's next?

Once the matrix is adopted by the industry, LaborNet's next step is how they can grow the labour force, and specifically, how they can get more seasonal labourers for the busy season.

They've already begun on working on that problem, and a small recruiting trial last year resulted in positive results through the hiring of college students who want to stay close to school year-round, but that need summer jobs to do so.

Additional resources they plan to tap into are teachers who are also free for the summer, and even fire fighters who work shifts are have several days off in a row.

Getting Canada on board

In Canada there are currently no standard criteria in place for hiring a labourer, though some companies may have their own list of qualifications. Background checks are not standard practice unless they're for an account with checks as a requirement. And you would be hard pressed to find a van line with a surplus of labourers at their disposal anywhere in the country these days.

The hard truth is that the crisis in Canada is just as critical as it is in the U.S., but as Tony Robbins so eloquently put it, "By changing nothing, nothing changes."

Nancy Irvine, CAM President, knows the frustration members are facing and recognizes the need for change. "I came into this business in 2005 and we were having labour challenges then. Now it's almost 15 years later and it's the aux diverses alternatives possibles pour recruter plus de travailleurs saisonniers pendant la haute saison.

Ils ont déjà commencé à s'attaquer à ce problème et un petit test de recrutement mené l'année dernière a donné des résultats positifs grâce au recrutement d'étudiants qui souhaitent demeurer à proximité de leur école tout au long de l'année, mais qui ont besoin d'un emploi d'été pour le faire.

Parmi les autres ressources qu'ils prévoient de mobiliser, il y a les enseignants qui sont également disponibles pendant la saison estivale, et même les pompiers qui travaillent sur des horaires variables et qui ont ainsi plusieurs jours de congé consécutifs.

Intégrer le Canada au projet

Au Canada, il n'existe actuellement pas de critères normalisés pour l'embauche d'un travailleur, bien que certaines entreprises puissent disposer de leur propre liste de qualifications. Les vérifications des antécédents professionnels ne sont pas une pratique courante, sauf s'il s'agit d'un poste requérant absolument des vérifications obligatoires. Et, de nos jours, partout au pays, vous auriez bien du mal à trouver une entreprise de transport avec un excédent d'employés à sa disposition.

La dure vérité, c'est que la crise au Canada est tout aussi critique qu'aux États-Unis, mais comme l'a dit si éloquemment Tony Robbins : « En n'effectuant aucun changement, rien ne change. »

Nancy Irvine, présidente de l'ACD, sait à quel point ses membres sont frustrés et reconnaît la nécessité d'un changement. « Je suis arrivée dans cette entreprise en 2005 et nous avons déjà des problèmes de main-d'œuvre. Près de 15 ans plus tard, c'est la priorité numéro un pour tous nos membres; trouver des employés qui vont demeurer en poste et continuer à travailler tout l'été. Quand elle sera prête pour être lancée au Canada, l'application de LaborNet sera un bon début pour attirer de nouveaux travailleurs dans notre noble industrie. Il y a beaucoup de personnes qualifiées qui recherchent un travail à temps partiel et qui peuvent être jumelées à des entreprises qui en ont besoin. Si nous les number one priority for all of our members; finding those people who will stick and stay on for the summer. When it's ready for Canada, plugging into the LaborNet app will be a great start to attract new workers to our noble industry. There are plenty of qualified people who are looking for part-time work who can be matched with companies that need them. If we treat them right and foster their professional growth, they'll become skilled and hopefully fall in love with our industry as much as we have, so they can make a difference for the future," she said.

Jason Hounsell, Director of Customer Care for MoverOne Group in Canada, echoes that sentiment, "The Canadian moving industry is at a critical point to find alternative solutions to our labour issues. Looking to the future our options are limited at best. Labour pools and standardized back check programs shared by all professional movers may be the only answer. This is an industry-wide issue that will shape our competitive landscape over the next few years."

Hopkins is confident the LaborNet app would be just as beneficial here as in the U.S. and is hoping for the busy season of 2020 to make it a reality in Canada.

The investigation of what it would take to make the LaborNet app viable here is definitely worth the effort, especially as the labour crisis continues to escalate.

traitons correctement et que nous favorisons leur croissance professionnelle, ils acquerront les compétences nécessaires et tomberont amoureux de notre secteur autant que nous, et ce, afin de pouvoir faire la différence pour l'avenir », a-t-elle déclaré.

Jason Hounsell, directeur du service à la clientèle du groupe MoverOne au Canada, partage cet avis : « L'industrie canadienne du déménagement est à un stade critique pour trouver des solutions alternatives à nos problèmes de main-d'œuvre. Lorsque nous regardons l'avenir, nos options sont au mieux limitées. Des bassins de main-d'œuvre et des programmes de vérification d'antécédents normalisés partagés par tous les déménageurs professionnels peuvent représenter l'unique solution. Il s'agit d'un problème touchant l'ensemble de l'industrie qui façonnera notre paysage concurrentiel au cours des prochaines années. »

Hopkins est confiant que l'application LaborNet serait tout aussi bénéfique ici qu'aux États-Unis et espère que celle-ci deviendra réalité en vue de la haute saison de 2020 au Canada.

L'enquête sur ce qu'il faudrait faire pour rendre l'application LaborNet viable ici en vaut certainement la peine, tout spécialement en prenant en considération l'aggravation de la crise de la main-d'œuvre.

The Cyber Threat is Real

Don't leave your business unprotected

By/par Elizabeth Russell

Les cybermenaces sont bien réelles

Ne laissez pas votre entreprise sans protection

With the increased acceptance of the Internet and digital technology in the workplace, so comes the increased risk of cybersecurity threats like data breaches and theft of personal or financial information.

Businesses rely on technology for everything from maintaining client personal information and financials to schedules and employee personnel files, to business financials, research and marketing – the list is endless. Essentially, technology runs much of our businesses for us, or at the very least, makes running them easier.

Data breaches alone can happen for any number of reasons including a hacked database, mishandled data, or weak spots in your website's security system, and having to notify your customers that their data may have been compromised can severely tarnish your company's reputation.

Avec l'utilisation répandue de l'Internet et des technologies numériques en milieu de travail, le risque accru de menaces à la cybersécurité, telles que les fuites de données et le vol d'informations personnelles ou financières, s'accroît.

Les entreprises dépendent entièrement de la technologie, de la gestion des informations personnelles et financières des clients ou celle des cédules de travail et des dossiers personnels des employés, en passant par les états financiers des entreprises, la recherche et le marketing - la liste est interminable. Essentiellement, la technologie gère une grande partie de nos activités à notre place, ou à tout le moins, les facilite.

Les fuites de données à elles seules peuvent survenir pour diverses raisons, notamment à cause d'une base

With that in mind, steps should be taken to protect your business, your clients and your employees from the threats that go along with the “ease” of using the Internet and technology.

Stats

Last year Statistics Canada released the results of the first Canadian Survey of Cybersecurity and Cybercrime. The data was collected from January to April of 2018, and included 12,597 Canadian businesses (with a response rate of 86 per cent) with 10 or more employees in 23 sectors, and was meant to reflect 2017 stats.

The survey reports that more than 1 of every 5 Canadian enterprises surveyed experienced a cybersecurity incident in 2017. The most common occurrences were aimed at stealing money or demanding a ransom, though the report indicates that only 1.6 per cent of those surveyed actually paid any ransom.

The survey also reports that 76 per cent of Canadian firms have anti-malware software in place, 73.9 per cent have email security, and 68 per cent have network security, but less than half invest in web application security. On top of that, only 28 per cent reported having software and application security, and only 28 per cent have hardware and asset management.

Cyber Insurance

According to the Stats Can survey, 24 per cent of large businesses reported they had cyber liability insurance to protect de données piratée, de bases de données mal gérées ou de failles dans le système de sécurité de votre site Web. Devoir informer vos clients que leurs données ont pu être compromises peut certes contribuer à ternir sérieusement la réputation de votre entreprise.

Dans cet esprit, des mesures devraient être prises pour protéger votre entreprise, vos clients et vos employés des menaces associées à la relative «facilité» d'utiliser l'Internet et les différentes technologies numériques.

Statistiques

L'année dernière, Statistique Canada a publié les résultats de la première enquête canadienne sur la cybersécurité et la cybercriminalité. Les données ont été recueillies de janvier à avril 2018 et l'enquête comprenait 12 597 entreprises canadiennes (avec un taux de réponse de 86 %) comptant au moins 10 employés dans 23 secteurs. Cette enquête visait à refléter les statistiques de 2017.

L'enquête indique que plus d'une entreprise canadienne sur cinq a été victime d'un incident lié à la cybersécurité en 2017. Les cas les plus courants visaient à dérober de l'argent ou à exiger une rançon, bien que le rapport indique que seulement 1,6 % de celles-ci ont effectivement payé une rançon.

L'enquête indique également que 76 % des entreprises canadiennes ont mis en place une application contre les logiciels malveillants, 73,9 % sont dotées d'une sécurité pour la messagerie électronique et 68 %, pour la sécurité

9 CONSEILS SIMPLES POUR VOUS PROTÉGER ET PROTÉGER VOTRE ENTREPRISE EN LIGNE

Mots de passe

Le problème le plus répandu en ce qui concerne les failles de sécurité concerne l'accès à plusieurs applications par mot de passe que les pirates potentiels peuvent obtenir lorsque les consommateurs utilisent des mots de passe similaires, des comptes associés via un accès à votre compte Facebook ou des rappels de mot de passe faciles. Pour contrer cette erreur potentielle, n'oubliez pas de toujours créer un mot de passe complexe et de créer un compte secondaire pour un accès administrateur afin de protéger davantage votre ordinateur.

Logiciels et mises à jour

Procurez-vous un bon logiciel antivirus, maintenez-le à jour et exécutez-le régulièrement. De plus, assurez-vous que le système d'exploitation et les applications de votre ordinateur sont mis à jour avec les dernières versions.

Attention aux hyperliens

Si un lien hypertexte apparaît dans un courrier électronique, assurez-vous que l'URL de destination se connecte à un site légitime que vous souhaitez visiter intentionnellement. Il est très facile de recevoir des courriels « d'amis » contenant des liens vers des logiciels malveillants.

Cryptage

Utilisez le cryptage pour les fichiers importants, mais n'oubliez pas qu'il peut déclencher des drapeaux rouges s'il est utilisé dans un courrier électronique.

Protégez votre connexion sans fil

Protégez votre réseau Wi-Fi et votre ordinateur lorsque vous utilisez une connexion sans fil dans un lieu public. Utilisez une application de réseau privé virtuel (VPN) lors de l'utilisation d'un point d'accès public pour masquer les mots de passe et toute autre information utilisée. Utilisez une authentification à deux facteurs lorsque possible pour un niveau de protection supplémentaire lors de l'accès aux sites.

Effacez votre historique

Supprimez fréquemment votre historique de navigation et assurez-vous que les fichiers témoins (cookies) sont inclus dans la suppression. En supprimant votre historique et vos fichiers témoins, ceci permet de vous assurer que des liens spécifiques vers des sites Web et des mots de passe potentiels soient conservés sur le Web – ce qui vous protège davantage.

Protégez vos comptes publics

Les voleurs d'identité peuvent facilement utiliser une date de naissance et un lieu de naissance figurant sur les comptes pour calculer le numéro de sécurité sociale d'une personne. Essayez de masquer ces détails de votre vie sur des comptes publics tels que Twitter et Facebook afin de vous protéger contre d'éventuelles fraudes.

Méfiez-vous des pirates informatiques sur les réseaux sociaux

Les gens font confiance à leurs amis en ligne en croyant qu'il s'agit des mêmes personnes qu'ils rencontrent dans le monde réel. Ce n'est pas toujours le cas et la majorité des vols se produisent lorsque des informations personnelles sont fournies volontairement à des sources peu fiables.

Disques durs

Enfin, sauvegardez toujours toutes vos informations importantes sur un disque dur externe ou un serveur. Cela pourrait vous économiser du temps et des efforts si un ordinateur devait être effacé ou perdait toutes ses informations antérieures.

against cyber security risks and threats, compared with 14 per cent of medium-sized businesses and seven per cent of small businesses. Coverage included direct losses from an attack or intrusion (82 per cent), business interruption (72 per cent), restoration expenses (71 per cent) and third-party liability and financial losses (66 per cent) for a majority of the policies.

“The answer is easy if you have a cyber policy that covers ransomware,” says Glenn Meyer, partner and vice president at McLean Hallmark Insurance Group. “You call and report the situation. Your insurance provider has experts ready to deal with these attacks and threats to your business. The fast response and expertise are not only vital to cover your losses, but will get you back up and running quickly, and even protect you from damage to your reputation.”

Even if the threat of cybercrime is already covered on your insurance policy, it may not be enough protection, depending on the crime and the extent of damage.

“While your current package policy may include some limited coverage for certain types of cyber claims, a standalone cyber policy is by far your best protection. A standalone policy will provide access to the incident response service, where a traditional policy will not. A property policy does not generally give you access to technically qualified incident response specialists, and a standalone policy will also be able to effectively manage various situations such as the notification and crisis management costs associated with responding to a rogue employee posting confidential data online,” explains Meyer. “These are a just few of the potential threats you and your business could face in this interconnected world.”

Failure to Report

The study also reported that most Canadian businesses don't report cyber security incidents to law enforcement – in fact, only about 10 per cent reported incidents to police. And of those businesses that didn't report to police, 29 per cent of them chose not to because they considered the impact of the crime too minor.

du réseau, mais moins de la moitié des entreprises consultées investissent dans la sécurité des applications Web. De plus, seuls 28 % ont déclaré disposer de systèmes de sécurité pour les logiciels et les applications, et 28% seulement possèdent un mode de gestion du matériel informatique et des actifs.

L'assurance en matière de cybercrimes

Selon une enquête de Statistique Canada, 24 % des grandes entreprises ont déclaré avoir souscrit une assurance responsabilité contre les risques liés au cybercrime afin de se protéger contre les risques et les menaces en matière de cybersécurité, contre 14 % des entreprises de taille moyenne et 7 % des petites entreprises.

It Can Happen to You

If you think you'll be one of the lucky businesses that won't be affected, keep in mind that even huge corporations have fallen victim to these types of breaches.

In 2018, both the Bank of Montreal and the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce suffered data breaches. An attack on Facebook's systems affected 30 million users. In 2017, Equifax announced that a data breach compromised the personal information and credit card details of 100,000 Canadians and 143 million Americans.

Votre fournisseur d'assurances dispose d'experts prêts à faire face à ces attaques et menaces pour votre entreprise. La réactivité et l'expertise sont non seulement vitales pour couvrir vos pertes, mais vous permettront de vous remettre rapidement en état de fonctionnement, voire de vous protéger contre les atteintes à votre réputation. »

Même si votre police d'assurance couvre déjà les menaces de cybercriminalité, il se peut que cette protection ne soit pas suffisante en fonction du crime et de l'ampleur des dommages.

9 SIMPLE TIPS TO PROTECTING YOURSELF AND YOUR BUSINESS ONLINE

Passwords

The largest issue with security breaches today is the cross-application password access that potential hackers can have when consumers use similar passwords, inter-locking accounts via Facebook sign up or easy password reminders. To counteract this potential mistake, remember to always make a complex password and create a secondary account for administrator access to further protect your computer.

Software and Updates

Get good antivirus software, keep it current and run it regularly. Additionally, ensure that the operating system and applications on your computer are updated to the latest versions.

Beware of Hyperlinks

If a hyperlink appears in an email, be sure to verify that the destination URL connects to a legitimate site that you intentionally want to visit. It is easy to receive emails from “friends” with links to malware.

Encryption

Use encryption for important files, but remember that it can raise red flags if used in an email.

Protect your Wi-Fi

Protect your Wi-Fi network and protect your computer when on Wi-Fi in a public location. Use a virtual private network application (VPN) when using a public hotspot to mask passwords, and any other information used. Utilize two-factor authentication whenever possible for an extra level of protection when accessing sites.

Delete Your History

Delete your web browsing history frequently and make sure cookies are included in the deletion. By deleting your history and cookies, it allows for specific ties to sites and potential remembered passwords to be forgotten on the web – further protecting you.

Protect Public Accounts

Identity thieves can easily use a birth date and place of birth provided on accounts to calculate someone's social security number. Try to mask the early details of your life on public accounts such as Twitter and Facebook in order to protect yourself from potential fraudulent issues.

Be Wary of Social Hackers

People trust their online friends to actually be the same people they meet in the physical world. This isn't always the case and a majority of theft occurs when personal information is provided willingly to unreliable sources.

Hard Drives

Lastly, always back up all of your important information on an external hard drive or server. This could save time and effort if a computer needs to be cleared or loses all of its previous information.

une couverture limitée pour certains types de réclamations liées à la cybercriminalité, une police d'assurance distincte en matière de cybercriminalité constitue de loin votre meilleure protection. Une police distincte vous donnera accès au service de suivi sur les incidents, alors qu'une police conventionnelle ne le fera pas. Une police d'assurance sur les biens ne vous donne habituellement pas accès à des spécialistes techniquement qualifiés en matière d'intervention en cas d'incident. Une police distincte vous permettra également de gérer efficacement diverses situations, telles que les coûts de notification et de gestion de crise associés à l'affichage en ligne de données confidentielles par un employé malveillant », explique Meyer. « Ce ne sont là que quelques-unes des menaces potentielles que vous et votre entreprise pourriez rencontrer dans ce monde interconnecté. »

La protection adéquate de votre présence en ligne est un devoir que vous avez envers vos clients, vos employés et votre entreprise.

Omission de signaler une fraude

L'étude a également révélé que la plupart des entreprises canadiennes ne signalaient pas les incidents liés à la cybersécurité aux forces de l'ordre - en fait, approximativement 10 % seulement en signalaient à la police. Et parmi les entreprises n'ayant pas fait rapport à la police, 29 % ont choisi de ne pas le faire car elles considéraient l'impact du crime comme trop mineur.

Ça peut vous arriver

Si vous croyez être une de ces entreprises chanceuses qui ne sera pas affectée par ce fléau, gardez à l'esprit que même de grandes entreprises ont été victimes de ce type d'infractions.

En 2018, la Banque de Montréal et la Banque Canadienne Impériale de Commerce ont été victimes de fuites de données. Une attaque sur les systèmes de Facebook a touché 30 millions d'utilisateurs. Times Change

And the Canadian moving industry must adjust

By/par Asrai Ord

Les temps changent

Et l'industrie canadienne du déménagement doit s'ajuster

Over the past year, CAM has been supporting student-led research at the University of British Columbia on the current state of the moving industry. Many of the issues documented in the research are already well-known within the industry, having been part of casual conversation for years or decades. However, as the moving industry continues to face changing market conditions, CAM hopes that recording these issues can serve as a jumping-off point for more industry-based discussions and problem-solving on what the future might look like for today's moving companies.

Overview of Issues

Data was collected over a six-month period via a survey and a series of over 60 interviews with owners and executives of a diverse set of moving companies. Most of the interviewees shared similar concerns and the issues raised can be generally grouped thematically into one of three categories: reliability, communication, and trust.

Rogue movers, falling sales and margins, poor communication, and a reliance on business processes or relationships with unreliable outcomes were top of mind for most people. Labour and driver shortages were mentioned often, and cited as a major reason for not always being able to meet customer expectations when it came to quality of service.

Proposed Solutions

A few interviewees felt that at least some of the issues facing the industry today could be managed through changing some of their business practices. Diversifying revenue streams, pooling small shipments more effectively, and investing in more efficient technology were all cited as being a means of easing financial pressure. Several interviewees also indicated that shifting to a business model that offered more partial services and possibly relied on multi-modal transportation, may also be helpful as the industry transitions into the future.

Moving Forward

The moving industry is being faced with significant market changes. Customer expectations are shifting and many companies are finding that the models of service they have been relying on for years, even decades, are no longer

Au cours de la dernière année, l'ACD a soutenu une recherche menée par une étudiante de l'Université de la Colombie-Britannique sur l'état actuel du secteur du déménagement. Bon nombre des problèmes documentés dans la recherche sont déjà bien connus dans l'industrie, ayant fait l'objet de discussions informelles pendant des années, voire des décennies. Cependant, alors que l'industrie du déménagement continue d'être confrontée à des conditions de marché changeantes, l'ACD espère que le relevé de ces problématiques pourra servir de point de départ à des discussions à l'interne au sein de l'industrie ainsi qu'à un mode de résolution de problèmes adéquat quant au futur des entreprises de déménagement.

Vue d'ensemble des problèmes

Les données ont été collectées sur une période de six mois au moyen d'une enquête et d'une série de plus de 60 entretiens avec des propriétaires et des dirigeants de diverses entreprises de déménagement. La plupart des personnes interrogées ont partagé des préoccupations similaires et les questions soulevées peuvent généralement être regroupées de manière thématique dans l'une des trois catégories suivantes: fiabilité, communication et lien de confiance. Les déménageurs malhonnêtes, la chute des ventes et des marges, une communication déficiente et le recours à des processus opérationnels ou à des relations d'affaires dont les résultats sont peu fiables étaient au centre des préoccupations de la plupart des personnes consultées. Les pénuries de main-d'œuvre et de chauffeurs ont souvent été évoquées et citées comme l'une des principales raisons de ne pas toujours pouvoir répondre aux attentes des clients en matière de qualité de service.

Solutions proposées

Quelques personnes interrogées ont estimé qu'à tout le moins, certains des problèmes auxquels l'industrie est confrontée aujourd'hui pourraient être gérés en modifiant certaines de leurs pratiques commerciales. Diversifier les sources de revenus, regrouper plus efficacement les petites expéditions et investir dans des technologies plus efficaces ont tous été cités comme un moyen d'atténuer les pressions financières. Plusieurs personnes interrogées ont également indiqué que le passage à un modèle commercial offrant des prestations de services plus réduites et s'appuyant possiblement sur un système de transport multimodal pourrait également être d'une grande utilité dans la transition future de cette industrie.

Actions futures

L'industrie du déménagement est confrontée à des changements working as intended. Many companies are feeling pressured to innovate and invest in new business practices or technology in order to fight shrinking profit margins, although few seem confident in which solutions would be most effective for them. Moving companies that claim to have accelerating growth within the industry are finding business efficiencies that allow them to put more resources toward providing a high standard of customer service; one example of this is increasing the use of software to automate business processes. Results from the interview process suggest that consumers increasingly want to purchase services online, and that the moving industry will have to find ways to provide on-demand, reliable, and consistent service, with very little room for error.

Want to join the conversation? There will be a full session on the detailed results from this study at CAM's 24th Annual Conference in Blue Mountain, ON, from November 17-19, 2019. The session will include an open forum discussion where participants can voice their views on the challenges the industry is facing into the next decade and their ideas to counter them. Consider attending – your opinion counts.

importants du marché. Les attentes des clients changent et de nombreuses entreprises constatent que les modèles de prestation de services sur lesquels elles s'appuient depuis des années, voire des décennies, ne fonctionnent plus comme prévu. De nombreuses entreprises se sentent obligées d'innover et d'investir dans de nouvelles pratiques commerciales ou de nouvelles technologies afin de lutter contre la réduction des marges bénéficiaires, bien que peu d'entre elles semblent vraiment convaincues quant aux solutions les plus efficaces pour elles. Les entreprises de déménagement qui indiquent connaître une croissance accélérée au sein de l'industrie constatent des gains d'efficacité qui leur permettent de consacrer plus de ressources à la fourniture d'un service à la clientèle de qualité supérieure; un exemple en est l'utilisation accrue de logiciels informatiques pour automatiser les processus opérationnels. Les données résultant des entretiens menés suggèrent que les consommateurs souhaitent de plus en plus se procurer des services en ligne et que l'industrie du déménagement devra trouver des façons d'offrir une prestation de services à la demande, fiable et constante, tout en laissant peu de place aux erreurs.

Vous souhaitez vous joindre à la discussion? Une présentation complète sera consacrée aux résultats détaillés de cette étude lors de la 24e conférence annuelle de l'ACD à Blue Mountain, en Ontario, du 17 au 19 novembre 2019. La session comprendra un forum de discussion ouvert où les participants pourront exprimer leurs points de vue sur les défis auxquels sera confrontée l'industrie au cours de la prochaine décennie ainsi que leurs suggestions visant à les contrer. Réfléchissez à la possibilité d'y assister – votre opinion compte.

This is a follow-up to A Preliminary Framework for Moving Industry Change, which appeared in the fall 2018 issue of The Canadian Mover.

Building Blocks

for Next Generation Performance

6 out of a possible 5 stars!
Best one yet!
First class conference!

These were some of the comments CAM received as feedback about its annual conference held in Niagara Falls, November 18-20, 2018. Expanding on Montréal's conference theme of change, the theme for our 23rd annual get-together was, "Building Blocks for Next Generation Performance" ... and we certainly built blocks.

Participants were encouraged to use their creative juices to build structures with Lego that was provided at every table. It was fun to see how many different structures and vehicles, including moving trucks, were built. The exercise underlined how each person or team in that room thinks differently.

Our program inspired attendees to really open their minds and embrace the idea of change. There's no question that how we will do business going forward will need to be different, and our outstanding speakers helped us to consider new-school thinking for operating and preparing us better for the transformation.

We heard from millennial Dong-Ling Chen of Deloitte who gave us some practical tips on how to engage her generation. Rebecca Mountain returned to help us learn to maximize our social media ROI while Stephen Cryne, President of CERC, updated us on which Canadians are on the move. Sandra Crozier-McGee rounded out our first day of presentations, discussing how critical a strong HR policy is for managing employee use of cannabis in each of our workplaces. Tuesday opened with AMSA President, Scott Michael, updating us on trends in the USA and the general state of their moving

de nouvelle génération

6 étoiles sur 5!
La meilleure de toutes!
Une conférence de haut niveau!

Ce sont là quelques-uns des commentaires reçus par l'ACD relativement à sa conférence annuelle tenue à Niagara Falls du 18 au 20 novembre 2018. Pour faire suite au thème précédemment abordé lors de la conférence de Montréal, le thème de notre 23e conférence annuelle était: «Outils de performance de nouvelle génération»... et nous avons certainement contribué à mettre en place certains de ces éléments.

Les participants ont été encouragés à utiliser leur créativité afin de construire des structures avec des blocs Lego fournis à chaque table. Ce fut fort amusant de voir combien de structures et de véhicules différents ont été construits, y compris des camions de déménagement. L'exercice a permis de démontrer comment chaque personne ou chaque équipe dans la salle pouvait penser différemment.

Notre programme a incité les participants à faire preuve d'ouverture d'esprit et à accepter le concept de changement. Il ne fait aucun doute que la manière dont nous allons gérer nos entreprises à l'avenir devra être différente et nos conférenciers de premier ordre nous ont certes aidés à envisager une nouvelle école de pensée afin de mieux opérer et de mieux nous préparer en vue d'une telle transformation.

Dong-Ling Chen, la jeune millénaire de Deloitte nous a donné des conseils pratiques sur la manière de faire participer les gens de cette génération. Rebecca Mountain a de nouveau participé afin de nous permettre d'apprendre industry. Mark Denney of WCS Bridgeforce closed our conference presentations discussing something we all need to deal with – succession planning – as our businesses are now transferring over to the next generation.

Beyond the sessions, attendees had considerable opportunity to network with each other – to share ideas and develop new business relationships. The Sunday evening reception at the Niagara Brewing Company had a great turnout which set a highly collegial mood for the rest of the conference. And Monday night's reception at the Hard Rock Club, hosted by Ogilvy Insurance, was so much fun that the staff had to work to get us to leave!

Our popular Annual Awards Dinner was once again a large gathering of friends and colleagues honouring deserving members of the moving industry.

Distinguished Service –

Doug Kellough, retired, Salmon's Transfer

The Distinguished Service Award recognizes a prominent member of the moving profession who exemplifies the standards that CAM promotes; serves as a positive role model; has demonstrated leadership, commitment and integrity; and has made significant contributions to the Canadian moving industry, especially, in Doug's case, to CAM.

John Bandstra, retired, Bandstra Moving

The Industry Achievement Award honours a pioneering member of the moving industry who has had a long career of outstanding contribution to and impact on the moving profession; has demonstrated innovation and leadership; has raised the profile and performance of the industry, and promoted quality and integrity by example; and has served as a mentor to others in the profession. à optimiser notre retour sur investissement sur les réseaux sociaux tandis que Stephen Cryne, président du CERC, nous a informés relativement au profil des Canadiens qui déménagent. Sandra Crozier-McGee a clôturé notre première journée de présentations en expliquant à quel point une bonne politique de Ressources Humaines est essentielle afin de pouvoir contrôler la consommation de cannabis de nos employés sur tous les lieux de travail. Le mardi, Scott Michael, président de l'AMSA, a débuté la journée en nous informant sur les différentes tendances aux États-Unis et sur la situation générale de l'industrie du déménagement de ce pays. Mark Denney de WCS Bridgeforce a clôturé les exposés de notre conférence en discutant d'une question à laquelle nous sommes tous confrontés, à savoir la planification de la relève, et ce, au moment où nos entreprises sont maintenant transférées à la génération suivante.

Au-delà des sessions, les participants ont eu beaucoup d'opportunités d'effectuer du réseautage, de nouer de nouveaux contacts, d'échanger des idées et de développer de nouvelles relations d'affaires. La réception du dimanche soir à la Niagara Brewing Company a connu un taux de participation élevé, ce qui a contribué à créer une ambiance propice à la collégialité pour le reste de la conférence. Et la réception du lundi soir au Hard Rock Club, organisée par Ogilvy Insurance, était tellement amusante et plaisante que le personnel sur place a dû s'efforcer de nous convaincre de quitter!

Notre populaire dîner annuel de remise des prix a constitué à nouveau une occasion exceptionnelle pour permettre un grand rassemblement d'amis et de collègues profitant de l'occasion offerte pour rendre hommage aux membres méritants de l'industrie du déménagement.

THE PROGRAM

Expanding on last year's conference theme of building blocks for next generation performance, our theme this year will be Keeping Ahead of the Curve. 2019 marks the 50th anniversary of the beginning of CAM. The first half century certainly has had its challenges; however, as we go around the curve and head towards our Centenary, our Association has never been more engaged or stronger.

Our successful two-day program is the right mix of learning and mingling with a little bit of fun thrown in. This year will highlight up-to-the-minute information to help you prepare to stay ahead on industry challenges. We are looking to have more interactive sessions this year, including:

The Canadian Moving Industry...Time for a Change? – Presentation of the results from the CAM-sponsored 2018 moving industry study, followed by an open forum to share ideas.

A View from the Corner Office – Back by popular demand, this session will include a moderator asking questions to a panel of van line and independent movers' senior executives.

Changing Driver Behaviour – It's time for a change in driving culture and that starts at the top. A thought-provoking session for operations and management on helping drivers understand and alter their current driving habits.

Cyber Security – Can You Afford the Risk? – A session that will focus on the continuing importance of privacy protection and risks associated with securing data and technology in a time of unprecedented data breaches.

As always, Sunday night's welcoming reception and the very popular Monday evening, hosted by Ogilvy Insurance, are included in your registration.

Our spacious trade show area will host one of the biggest to-date with several new exhibitors with exciting wares and services. There will be some down time available for you to enjoy the amenities of the village, go for a hike, enjoy the scenic caves or perhaps venture out for some wine tasting.

The conference will close on Tuesday evening at CAM's very popular Chairman's Reception and Annual Awards Dinner where we honour distinguished members in the industry. This year, our emcee will be Rob Pue, one of the brightest voices to hit the Canadian comedy scene.

THE RESORT

With the natural beauty of the Niagara Escarpment and Georgian Bay as a backdrop, Blue Mountain is the perfect setting for this year's conference.

The vibrant pedestrian Blue Mountain Village has a delightful, traditional ambiance with boutique shopping and a variety of dining experiences that will offer you a lovely respite from the long and strenuous moving season.

Among the many local options, there's wine and beer tasting tours as well as the nearby ScandinaVe Spa, featuring steam rooms, thermal and Nordic waterfalls and hot baths all in the serenity of the natural outdoors.

THE HOTEL

Nestled amid an idyllic landscape, The Westin Trillium House, Blue Mountain is a haven of wellness and comfort.

Warm up by the fireplace in the sitting area while admiring the mountain or village vista. Feel at home in your kitchenette equipped with a microwave, toaster, coffeemaker, refrigerator, dinnerware, and other
